24i Video Cloud provides all the key capabilities required to launch and grow your streaming service – from ingest and transcode to elegant white-label applications for all kinds of connected devices.

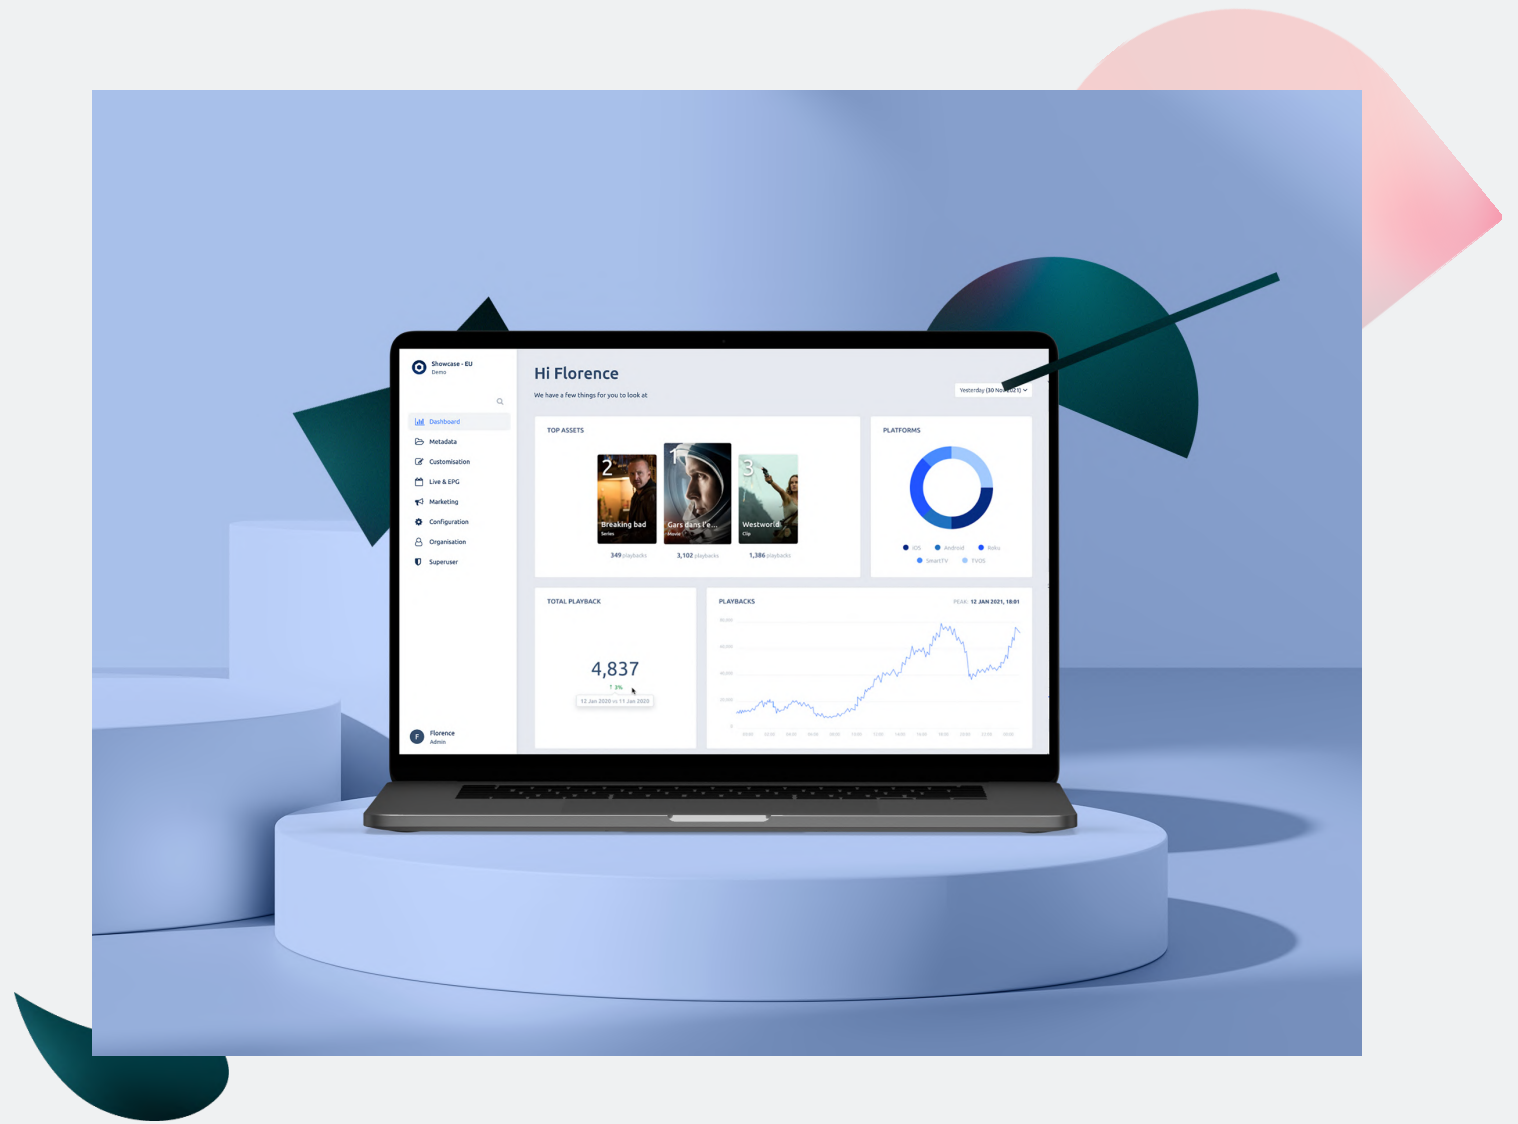

Appstage

Our flawless front-end

There are white-label applications for web, mobile, Smart TVs, streaming devices, and the proprietary STBs distributed by Pay TV operators, as well as support for casting content to TV screens. Alongside the apps themselves, Appstage has Mods to enable discovery, personalization, analytics, and recommendations.

Backstage

Our essential interface

Backstage is a content management system, integration layer, and real-time UX/UI configuration tool, all in one interface.
You can use it to define the menu structure, pages, content selection, and color scheme of your apps on multiple devices and for different audience segments.

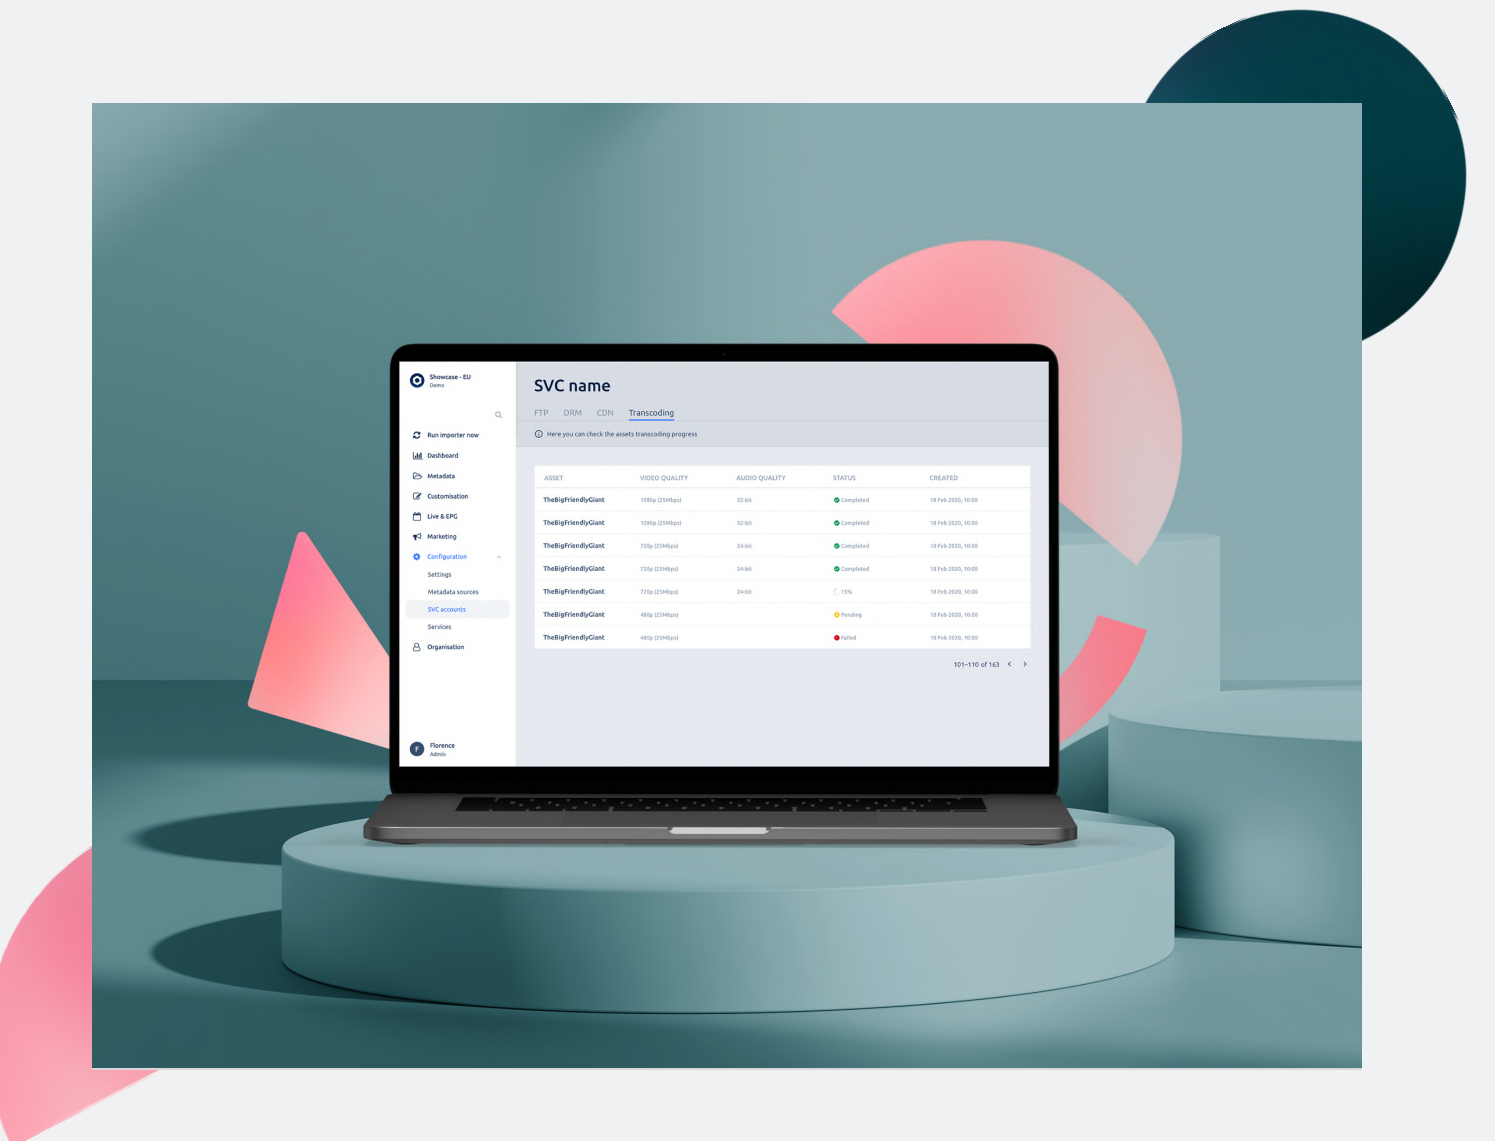

24iQ

The Power of Personalization

24iQ is an out-of-the-box, engagement-boosting technology platform with advanced algorithms. It's fast to deploy with many built-in models. You can define and optimize your ideal personalization solutions for AVOD, SVOD, Broadcast & FAST streaming services.

Videostage

Our award-winning video backend

For services focused on VOD and live events, we offer fully cloud-hosted ingest, transcoding, DRM packaging, and CDN services. Alternatively, choose our hybrid deployment to handle the full complexity of multi-channel TV with EPG ingest, catch-up, and network PVR.
